

SOUGHT MONEY FROM RHEA TO ASSIST JUDGE MANN

Witness in Local Option Contests Tells of Seeking Funds With Which to Pay Poll Taxes of Mann Supporters.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BRISTOL, Va., July 28.—The taking of depositions in the local option contest case in Bristol was begun today. The day was taken up in recording the deposition of E. J. Cornett, a local option supporter, and Lindsay Bunting, secretary of the Business Men's League, which was organized to influence the election in favor of saloons.

Mr. Cornett testified to having witnessed activity on the part of men in sympathy with the cause of saloons in qualifying persons to vote. He observed the frequenting of Mr. Bunting's office by these people, and inferred they were going there to receive money, since Bunting was supposed to be handling the funds of the "wets."

Mr. Cornett admitted that he himself had sought money from Judge William F. Rhea, of the Virginia Corporation Commission, for use in paying poll taxes in the interest of Judge Mann for Governor.

Bunting was on the stand all the afternoon. He admitted that as secretary of the "wets" organization, he handled a part of the funds. Under advice of counsel, he claimed his privilege not to answer many questions. He would not give the names of other men composing the Business Men's League, declined to show his bank account as evidence of how the "wets" funds were spent, and refused to say how the money was spent aside from that portion spent for printing. He denied having paid poll taxes for anybody besides himself. He declined to answer as to various men supposed to have contributed money.

In turning Mr. Bunting over to counsel for the "wets," Attorney Robert Burrow, representing the "drys," created a sensation by remarking of Mr. Bunting's demeanor on the stand that he gave it up as a "bad job" for the "wets." He insisted that this remark should constitute a part of the record.

Spring a Surprise.
Counsel for the "wets" sprung a sensation by filing, instead of an answer to the petition of the "drys," a demurrer to the petition, by which they hope to throw the case out of court. This demurrer contends that the petition is not sufficient in law for the reasons, first, that it appears that the names of the petitioners are not signed by them in person, but by counsel; second, that it does not appear that the persons signing for the petitioners were authorized to do so; third, that it does not appear that the person who signed the names to the complaint had a right to file it in the court; fourth, because of the allegation that ninety persons who voted in the election did not pay their poll taxes in person, it being contended by counsel for the "wets" that the certificate of the Treasurer, to the effect that all voters on the qualified list had properly paid their poll taxes, nullifies any allegation to the contrary.

In the event the court does not sustain this demurrer, then the "wets" will make answer to the petition.

HUNDREDS ATTEND FUNERAL SERVICE

Remains of Former Mistress of White House Are Laid Away at Winchester.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WINCHESTER, Va., July 28.—The remains of Mrs. Bettie Taylor Dandridge, the last member of the family of her father, President Zachary Taylor, who died at her home on North Braddock Street, last Sunday afternoon, following a brief illness, were laid to rest shortly after noon today in the family lot in Mount Hebron Cemetery. Funeral services were held at 11 o'clock in the historic old Christ Protestant Episcopal Church, of which she had been a communicant for many years and consisted of the regular burial service with no deviations, portions of it being chanted by the vestal choir. Prayers and scripture lessons were read by the rector, Rev. William D. Smith.

The church was thronged with men and women of prominence, many of whom came from distant sections of Virginia and other States to pay their tributes of respect to the former mistress of the White House. At the conclusion of the services at the cemetery, the remains of Mrs. Dandridge were taken to Mount Hebron Cemetery and interred. Many beautiful floral emblems were sent for the casket, and were stacked high on and about the grave. The pall-bearers were Dr. William P. McGuire, John W. Rhee, Major Fuller, John W. Rhee, Major Conrad, Major Eugene W. Baylor, Major Robert W. Hunter and Shirley Carter, all of Winchester; John E. Boyd, of Martinsburg, W. Va., and J. P. Dandridge, of the Bower, Jefferson county, W. Va.

One of the pall-bearers, John E. Boyd, of Martinsburg, W. Va., it was learned today, owes his life to the late Mrs. Dandridge. During the Civil War she was a strong Southern sympathizer, and was a friend of many soldiers in the Confederate army. While General Phil Sheridan and his troops were encamped in this city, John Boyd, a Confederate soldier, started to visit his home, at the Lefevre place, near Bunker Hill, Berkeley county, W. Va., and when it became known that he was here and his presence desired by the Union army, he was arrested, imprisoned and sentenced to die. From the window of his lonely cell he could see workmen erecting his scaffold and others making his coffin. Efforts made by friends to save him were futile, and Mrs. Dandridge, upon learning of his plight, went in person to General Sheridan and interceded for him, with the result that his death sentence was changed to that of imprisonment and later he was exchanged and returned to the Confederate army.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY FOR BREAKING INTO STORE.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
LYNCHBURG, Va., July 28.—R. C. Maddox, who was arrested several days ago charged with breaking into the storehouse of John T. McKinney, in Campbell county, was given a preliminary hearing before Justice Fortune this morning and held for the action of the grand jury.

Maddox also was tried on the charge of stealing brass from machinery on the farm of Mr. McKinney and he was fined $20 and costs on this charge. He was later bailed in the sum of $250 for his appearance before the Circuit Court at Rustburg at the September term.

LINDEN KENT PRIZE IS AWARDED TO ALBERT BALZ.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., July 28.—Announcement was made at the University of Virginia today that the Linden Kent prize, offered by the Linden Kent Memorial School of English Literature for the best essay on an unexploited Virginia author, had been awarded to Albert G. A. Balz, of Charlottesville.

The subject of Mr. Balz's essay was "Richard Dabney, the Poet of Louisa," who was born in that county in 1787 and died there in 1826. Dabney's early poems were first published in Richmond, shortly after the historical Richmond Theatre fire, in which the poet was himself severely injured, and later on in Philadelphia.

Mr. Balz, who received his master of arts degree at the June commencement, also won the medal for the best essay written for the University magazine during the past season, the title of the essay being "Styvie." In the same contest he won second place with "Romanticism in English Music and Literature." He also received honorable mention in the contest for the short story medal, his subjects being "Eyes of Thais" and "Yae Yodite."

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BRISTOL, Va., July 28.—B. H. Seneker, a retired merchant here, today received a wire message that his son, Edgar Seneker, twenty-one years old, had been killed in an accident in North Dakota. Mr. Seneker left here last fall and had held a position on a Missouri River steamer.

Truth and Quality

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing. Accordingly, it is not claimed that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is the only remedy of known value, but one of many reasons why it is the best of personal and family laxatives is the fact that it cleanses, sweetens and relieves the internal organs on which it acts without any debilitating after effects and without having to increase the quantity from time to time.

It acts pleasantly and naturally and truly as a laxative, and its component parts are known to and approved by physicians, as it is free from all objectionable substances. To get its beneficial effects always purchase the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

ACCIDENTAL SHOT FATAL TO TAILOR

Charles Adams Borrowed Rifle to Shoot Rats and Killed Himself.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
LEXINGTON, Va., July 28.—Charles Adams, a seventy-nine-year-old man, was shot to death today by a rifle shot fired from a neighbor's house. Adams, who was a tailor, was shot while he was shooting rats. The rifle was borrowed from a neighbor, and Adams was shot in the head. The shooting was accidental, although Mr. Adams had been warned not to shoot. He died at the hospital.

TWO MORE VICTIMS LEAVE FOR THE PASTURE INSTITUTE.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
LYNCHBURG, Va., July 28.—Two more persons who were bitten by a rabid dog Monday have gone to the Pasture Institute, at Baltimore, to be treated. The dog, which was pronounced to have had rabies by government experts at Washington, is known to have bitten five persons and many more dogs, and much excitement exists in the White Sulphur Hill section of the city as the result.

AGED PHYSICIAN IS KILLED BY A TRAIN.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
LYNCHBURG, Va., July 28.—Dr. J. B. Morton, of Lynchburg, aged seventy-eight years, was instantly killed at the Southern Railway crossing here today by a train. He was on his way to a farm to look at a view of buying, and was killed while going by train to return home. County Coroner Davis viewed the remains and will hold an inquest tomorrow afternoon. The remains will be brought here.

Many Attend Camp-Meeting.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
FREDERICKSBURG, Va., July 28.—The religious assembly meeting at Spotsylvania Courthouse is now in operation and will continue ten days. Large crowds are attending the services, which are held throughout the day and also at night. Many have moved to the camp grounds and are occupying tents. The Rev. J. H. K. Strouse, of Salem, is conducting the services, assisted by a number of other workers.

Remains Brought Home.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

News of Petersburg

The Times-Dispatch Bureau, 109 North Sycamore Street, Petersburg, Va., July 28.

A handsomely printed book, compiled under the direction of the Industrial department of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, entitled "Petersburg, Virginia," has just been issued. The book contains an interesting sketch of the city and of its many industries, and well sets forth the advantages, commercially, industrially and otherwise, of Petersburg.

Methodist Parsonage at Louisa Destroyed.
Set on Fire by Explosion of Gasoline Stove. Minister's Wife and Daughter Are Badly Burned.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
LOUISA, Va., July 28.—The Methodist parsonage burned down this afternoon about 3:30 o'clock. It caught from an explosion from a gasoline stove in the kitchen. Only about one-half of the furniture was saved. There was insurance on the case, but the $1,000 on the building. The minister was away from home. His wife and two daughters were badly burned about their faces and hands.

A Mr. Smith became overheated fighting the fire and is in a serious condition. H. Cranley's house, next door, was threatened.

DETECTIVE IS HELD FOR JUMPING BOND

He Is Arrested While Assisting in Prosecution of Liquor Cases.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 28.—The third day in the trial of eighteen alleged violators of the State prohibition laws was featured by the arrest of Detective Adams, one who had secured much of the evidence that led to the arrests, by a deputy sheriff from Greensboro on a warrant charging him with skipping bond of $500 there. Members of the Good Government League, who brought him here, gave bond and he will not have to leave until after the trial.

The grilling cross-examination of Adams featured the morning session. At one time it was charged that he caught a horse thief, but released him on payment of a certain amount, but this Adams denied. It is now believed that for the larger part the sensational features of the trial are over and that during the next two or three days all the cases will be disposed of. The prosecution was strengthened yesterday by the addition of Colonel V. S. Lusk and Judge J. D. Murphy, who were retained by members of the Good Government League.

Evidence was finished in the cases against W. H. Rush, T. J. Harrison, D. R. McKinnon and X. Lang. When the case of Vance Wells was called, it was stated that the wrong man had been arrested and the prosecution was dropped.

It is stated that when the trial is closed proceedings in arrest and bail will be brought against the detectives because of alleged false swearing, causing the arrest of three men who had no connection with the case. Damages of $10,000 will be asked in each case, it is said.

CASE MUST BE TRIED IN UNITED STATES COURT.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 28.—Judge Newman in United States Circuit Court yesterday, handed down his decision in the case of Peter D. Rouche vs. the Southern Railway Company, denying the motion of the plaintiff to remand the case to the State courts. This means that the case, in which Rouche is suing for $50,000 for injuries sustained in a head-on collision at Swannanoa, several years ago, in which two were killed and the plaintiff in this case permanently injured, must be tried in United States court, probably before Judge Newman next month.

YOUNG FARMER IS PUT ON TRIAL FOR MURDER.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., July 28.—Jesse A. Heger, a young farmer who stands well in his community, was put on trial here today charged with murdering Mrs. Jennie Kether on the night of September 19, 1908. Mrs. Kether was killed while walking home from church. The defendant's horse ran into her, inflicting injuries which resulted in her death a few hours later. No preliminary trial was held, but a recent grand jury returned a true bill against Heger for murder. Several hundred people were present when the case was called for trial today. The jury is tonight deliberating on a verdict.
